

Go Beyond DISC Certified & Set Yourself Apart

What sets Viatech Global's program apart from others? We offer unique training and exclusive access to our reports, training materials, analysis tools, and much more. Ongoing support increases your value as your company's in-house trainer to delivering our Pointing the Way Workshop plus four additional workshops to take team development to the highest level for cohesive, engaged and productive teams. Plus, all the materials for your first DISC team training for 10 people are included. A value in excess of $850.00.

Reasons to become a Viatech Certified Behavior Analyst:

- Improved Skills and Advancement
- Certification as a Trainer and Coach
- Value add to your employer
- Training Expert & Problem Solver
- Career Development & Personal Growth
- Increased Effectiveness as a Team Leader
- Coaching others in personal and career development

We offer unique training and exclusive access to our reports and analysis tools. Our high level value and service means we develop products with YOU and the current business climate in mind. This unique training will set you apart from other DISC instructors and identify you as a leading expert in identifying talents, job adaptation and stress in the workplace.

Enhance the bottom line of your company when you have a Viatch Certified Total Human Potential Analyst on your team. With our reports, analysis and training you can begin to identify workplace issues such as:

- What motivates employees?
- How engaged are employees?
- How effective are your managers?
- What is the culture in the workplace?
- What needs to change to create what is desired?

- Which of the applicants for a specific job best fits?

The answers to these questions will help shape your business for the future at affordable cost to the business. We train your trainer (Analyst) and they remain in-house; there is no additional cost beyond the training we provide.
